

ABSTRACT

In order to create a parking meter (100) with an input device for means of payment and with an indicating device for indicating a paid parking time as well as with a central control device (6) which makes possible an exact debit of the parking time effectively used, it is proposed that a return device is provided for the return payment of an amount of money corresponding to the non used parking time. Furthermore, a corresponding method is indicated.

(Fig. 1)